JOB FREEZE HITS CHINLE O.R.

POSSIBLE JOB CUTS IN O.R.

After the first applicant for the Chinle OR nurse position refused the job, administrators announced that the job freeze might cause them to simply close the position. The OR would then function with a total of 3 RN's. A memo was also circulated stating that FTEs would be limited to those positions which could not be filled by any other means. Yet another memo warned of more upcoming job cuts in the Navaho Area IHS.

Plans continue for Mrs. Adam's new store to be located in South Carolina. Many local rug dealers have been pleased to sell her items to stock the antique store with. Ms Finlay has tentatively agreed to work in the store, pending her ability to get a part time RN position in the area.

Obituary: Widdems, Ms Finlay's cat of many years durations was put to sleep last weekend. The cat had renal failure and was believed to be suffering badly toward the end. Widdems is survived by 3 dogs, a fellow cat, and Ms Finlay (although there may be some doubts about that). The burial took place on the mesa and was attended by several local luminaries.

THE END OF AN ERA

CLIFF'S CAR FINALLY DIES

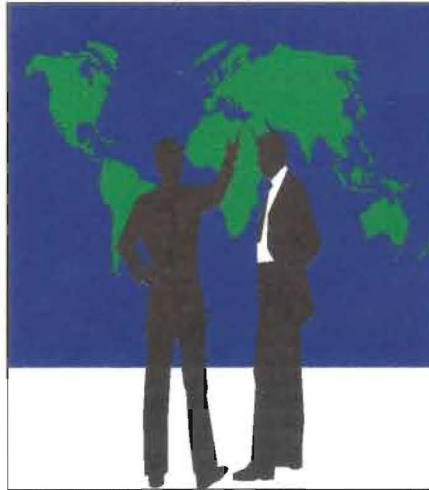

Local citizens were amazed to learn that Cliff Dick's res rocket finally exploded in Shiprock last weekend. He is attempting a reserection but most people expect him to soon replace it with a new Toyota truck. He is currenting driving an "ugly duckling" rental car.

Movie Review: Star Trek: Generations opened to favorable reviews two weeks ago. Although Soran's weapon was noted to be a dental torch, rather than something more exotic, crowds greatly enjoyed the story. Data's performance was delightful, and Kirk's death seemed to have universal approval. We look forward to the next adventure (sans William Shatner).

Dr. Heath finally bought a new VCR, a Sony 770, after mailing her Bang and Olafson VCR back to the shop for the sixth time. Said Dr. Heath "I've had it! Never again!" This is interpreted to mean she will not be buying any more B & O equipment.

STOCK MARKET REPORT

The holiday craft season is under way with the Community Center show last weekend. It was composed almost exclusively of jewelry to the disappointment of many. This weekend is the Catholic Hall craft show, which is usually the biggest and best bazaar of the year to attend. Excitement is running high over this important event. Those who cannot make it however have another chance at the Community Center on Sunday December 10th.
